

Terms & Service

Welcome to Viether, By accessing our platform, you agree to abide by these Terms & Service, which govern your use of Viether's products, services, and resources.

User Eligibility

Users must be at least 18 years of age and comply with all applicable laws and regulations regarding digital asset transactions in their jurisdiction to access Viether.

Account Security

You are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your account credentials. Viether employs robust security measures, but users are also responsible for securing their accounts and promptly reporting any unauthorized access.

Transactions

All trades and transactions are processed based on user-initiated instructions. Viether cannot be held liable for market fluctuations, trading losses, or errors caused by user action. Users should carefully review transaction details before confirming. The company is not responsible for market price declines or any financial losses incurred by users.

Fees

Viether may apply fees to transactions, withdrawals, and certain services. By using our platform, you acknowledge and accept these fees, which may change over time. Updates to fee structures will be communicated and reflected on the platform.

Prohibited Activities

Users are prohibited from engaging in unlawful activities, fraudulent practices, or using the platform to exploit others. Viether reserves the right to terminate accounts involved in prohibited conduct.

Liability

Viether is not liable for indirect, incidental, or consequential damages arising from platform use. Use of Viether's services is at the user's own risk. The company does not take responsibility for financial losses resulting from market volatility, trading decisions, or investment risks.

By accessing Viether, you agree to these Terms & Service. We may revise these terms periodically to reflect changes in our offerings or regulatory requirements, and updates will be communicated on our platform.